Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill, NC

Mayor Jess Anderson

Pledge Summary

Chapel Hill is a vibrant college town in the Piedmont region of North Carolina, known as the home of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. With a population of roughly 60,000, the town blends a strong academic and research presence with a deep commitment to environmental stewardship, sustainability, and community engagement. Chapel Hill consistently emphasizes green infrastructure, climate action, and preservation of natural spaces, which naturally extends into efforts to support pollinators like bees and monarch butterflies.
