City of Wylie

Wylie, TX

Mayor Matthew Porter

Pledge Summary

Wylie is a city in Texas, located about 24 miles northeast of downtown Dallas. It lies primarily in Collin County, with portions extending into Dallas and Rockwall counties, and has a population of approximately 65,489. Positioned between Lake Lavon and Lake Ray Hubbard, Wylie is committed to pollinator conservation. Mayor Porter has signed the Mayor's Monarch Pledge, and the city will support initiatives such as planting milkweed in the Library garden and educating residents on the importance of selecting appropriate milkweed species to help protect pollinators.
