City of Wausau

Wausau, WI

Mayor Doug Diny

Pledge Summary

Wausau is a vibrant Central Wisconsin city of approximately 40,000 residents, proudly known as the gateway to northern Wisconsin and “Wisconsin’s Base Camp” for world-class outdoor recreation. Nestled along the Wisconsin River, our community values its natural spaces, including outstanding public gardens like Monk Botanical Gardens. The City of Wausau is committed to supporting monarch butterfly and pollinator conservation in practical, meaningful ways. Through our Sustainability Committee (SEEC), we are building on existing efforts such as public education in city newsletters encouraging residents to plant monarch-friendly gardens, delayed mowing schedules in pollinator areas like Schofield Park, and a student-created demonstration garden at City Hall.
