

Hamilton Township

Hamilton Township, NJ

Mayor Jeffrey Martin

Pledge Summary

Hamilton Township's 100,000 residents span from the Delaware River's marshlands in the east to farmlands in Central New Jersey. The oldest parts of the township were settled during the colonial era, similar to neighboring Trenton, the state capital. Mayor Martin's commitment to supporting monarchs and other pollinators shows in his support of the newly planted Wing Haven Meadow, the five other gardens in the township planted with native flowers, his support for the volunteers on the Township's Green Team and efforts to plant other municipal spaces with milkweed and other native plants, including the new municipal building complex.
