Town of Dryden

Dryden, NY

Dryden Town Supervisor Jason Leifer

Pledge Summary

The Town of Dryden, located in Tompkins County in the Finger Lakes region of New York, is a rural and environmentally conscious community with a strong tradition of land stewardship and sustainability. With its mix of farmland, forests, wetlands, and vibrant hamlets, Dryden is home to a diverse array of native plants and wildlife. The Town has demonstrated an ongoing commitment to environmental conservation through initiatives that support biodiversity, open space preservation, and climate resilience. By participating in the Mayors' Monarch Pledge, Dryden seeks to build on these efforts by protecting and enhancing habitat for monarch butterflies and other essential pollinators. Dryden is committed to engaging residents, local organizations, and regional partners in creating and maintaining pollinator-friendly spaces across public and private lands. Through education, habitat restoration, and sustainable land management practices, the Town aims to contribute to the health of pollinator populations and promote ecological awareness throughout the community.
